The most impressive and awesome component of the IT465 is the engine. After six years of big bore enduro bike manufacturing, Yamaha has come up with a combination of powerplant components that are extremely well suited for enduro racing. The IT465 engine is a direct adaption from the YZ465 motocross engine.

Full of cutting edge tech for the time, such as the rear monoshock, the IT465 is revered by many as the best of the IT (International Trial) bikes that Yamaha ever made. Though Yamaha would eventually made a 490 cc version of this bike, many felt that the bigger bore required to make more power wasn't worth the trade-off of a slightly sluggish start off the line.
